

Blogging and Collaboration

Part of developing our collaborative intelligence is increasing our ability to pull the right kind of information towards us. Visiting the right blogs is an excellent way to remain at least 'on the curve' – it's getting increasingly difficult to actually get ahead of it.

BlogRovR is a great way to collect all your favorite and important blogs in the one place – and so easy to use. With tools like BlogRovR we can really start 'Getting Clever Together'.