

What do bacteria know that we don't?

In a previous post I talked about how much we can learn from bacteria in terms of collaboration. Collaboratively they are extremely sophisticated. Bonnie Bassler gives us an amazing presentation at TED and the fact that bacteria can use 'quorum sensing' to respond to their environment is a little breathtaking.

Bonnie Bassler: Discovering bacteria's amazing communication system